Hand Hygiene

According to the CDC guidelines, in order to lower the risks of nosocomial (Healthcare settings acquired) infections, it is strongly recommended (Category IA) to provide your personnel with:

- Instant Hand sanitizer, which should be used during the entire day, between patients, before and after eating or using the rest room, etc.
- Soap and water, should be used when the hands look visibly soiled or dirty.
- Moisturizing lotion, to avoid cracks on hands where bacteria may sit and it would be more difficult to be removed.

Medline has a complete line of products, tools and information that will help you organize your Hand Hygiene program

Our Best Selling Mop!

The total cleaning concept with the next generation of Microfiber products!

Microfiber Cleans Better!

Microfiber picks up the miniscule dirt particles other mops and cloths leave behind. How? Millions of microscopic fibers are bundled together, creating a strong, textured fabric with hundreds of thousands of edges per square inch. These can reach every little nook and cranny, grabbing up dust and debris at bacteria level. Microfiber is super absorbent, non-abrasive, hypo-allergenic and washable—so mop pads and cloths can be used again and again.

The MicroMax Cleaning System offers an economical approach to our microfiber cleaning needs. Constructed of 100% Microfiber for the ultimate cleaning performance, a second layer of foam is added in absorption while sewn together with a Velcro backing and three rows of stitching.

Wet Mops

Loop-End Mop or Cut-End Mop?

Cut-end mops cost less, but that doesn't make them a better value! These cheaply-made mops shed fibers, collect lint and don't clean floors evenly. And because you can't launder them, they don't last very long.

Our Loop-end mops last longer and perform better. They are made from a single continuous strand of yarn, so they won't fray or unravel. They feature tail-bands that keep yarns in place for even, increased floor coverage. And you can launder them again and again, for longer life and better hygiene. Available in three sizes, so each member of your housekeeping crew can use a correctly proportioned mop.

The Best Quality Poly-Cotton Mop

These wet mops are launderable, loop-end, tail banded natural mops with a 5" head band.

This Dolly is Tough and QUIET!

The familiar sound of a BRUTE® container and dolly rolling through facilities has been an industry standard for over 30 years; however, in some environments, noise from conventional dollies is unacceptable to clients and staff. We're happy to introduce you to the BRUTE Quiet Dolly. The dolly features precision engineering for a quiet operation. This engineering eliminates 88% of traditional dolly noise across both smooth and uneven surfaces. This means you won't disrupt patients or residents if you clean at night! It has non-marking blue casters that make it easily identifiable.
