

Reusable Incontinence Care Products

from Medline

The Name You Trust in Textiles

At Medline, our first priority is patient care and comfort.

We work with nursing professionals to create high quality products with the end user in mind.

New Haloshield® Underpad, Page 3

Each Medline underpad features double-lock safety stitching around the edges of the pad that adds to its durability. The quilt pattern helps the pad lie flat underneath the patient/resident and reduces bunching and wrinkling.

Durability

Designed to withstand the rigors of institutional processing, our reusable underpads are extremely durable. We use only the best components, including Canadian Ibex facing from Springs Mills and Vintex vinyl knit barrier fabric. These time-tested components ensure that the integrity of our reusable underpads will not be compromised through repeated launderings.

Quality

All Medline reusable underpads feature Vintex barriers. Outperforming all competitive barrier fabrics, Vintex barriers are specifically formulated to withstand the demands of multiple commercial washing and drying cycles, while remaining soft and leak proof.

Value

Reusable underpads are more cost effective than disposable underpads. All Medline reusable underpads are absorbent enough to use just one pad at a time. Due to their minimal absorbency and light construction, disposable underpads are often stacked 4 or 5 on a bed at a time. In addition to cost savings, reusable underpads reduce landfill waste by over 99%, an added bonus to healthcare professionals concerned about our environment.

Variety

At Medline, we are proud to offer the widest selection of reusable underpad products in the healthcare industry. We offer a wide variety of face fabrics that maximize softness and durability. For those looking to provide a more home-like feel, we also offer color printed underpads. Finally, our reusable underpads come in a wide range of sizes, an array of colors, and absorbency capabilities. Our complete line of reusable underpads allows you to choose the underpad that best fits your specific needs.

Introducing the latest breakthrough in incontinence care...

New HaloShield® Odor-Control Underpads

So how does HaloShield work?

Anchored to the soaker layer HaloShield attracts and stabilizes residual chlorine molecules from the wash cycle (Figure 1). During normal laundering, the underpad is “re-charged” with fresh chlorine from the wash cycle (Figure 2). When odor-causing bacteria come in contact with the chlorine molecules (Figures 3 and 4) the bacteria are killed by the natural antimicrobial properties of chlorine, removing the source of the odor.

* EPA Registered chlorine-based sanitizer (such as chlorine bleach) bound to HaloShield Hygienic Coating in accordance with its EPA label.

Best of all, HaloShield is rechargeable technology. As illustrated in the diagram above, once the soiled HaloShield underpad is laundered with chlorine bleach, the underpad is once again fully charged for maximum odor control.

Conquest Underpads - Low Maintenance and Quick to Dry

After repeated washings, Conquest's lamination "puckers" to maintain a flat edge and prevent rolling and bunching.

Our most versatile pad's extreme durability combined with extra softness and absorbency make this our all-around underpad. A Vintex vinyl-knit barrier is bonded to the back of the soaker layer with a special lamination process that results in an underpad that always lies flat with no bunching or rolling. The lamination also gives the underpad an exceptionally fast drying time, a bonus for laundry professionals. Made with our exclusive, 100% polyester Med-Dri face fabric.
